AN AGE OLD RIVALRY

By Nate Flores, Aedan Chavez, Vincent Garcia

Chino High and Don Lugo High School's longtime rivalry, kicked off on September 16th at the Milkcan game. Chino kept the Milkcan home by winning for the second time in two years.

Chino High student Dominic Perez, was asked about the Milkcan rivalry/game. He thought the score of the Milkcan game was going to be 14-21, Chino wins. Perez said he does not think the game is going to go to overtime because "both teams are pretty good".

Perez did not get a ticket to the Milkcan because he was too late to get one. Perez said Don Lugo, Chino, Cheerleaders, coaches and the band were involved in the Milkcan. Perez has said he thought that the Milkcan was going to be crazy.

Adam Avolos was also interviewed about the Chino High and Don Lugo rivalry. Avolos thinks that the Milkcan rivalry will be 10-20 with Chino winning. He thinks that both teams are equally skilled, and will not go in overtime.

Avolos says that he bought a ticket for the Milkcan rivalry game the first day they came out, and was excited to go. He said that he is ready to see the game and that the crowd, the coaches, and the two rivalry schools will all be involved in this big game.

Chino High quarterback Diego Delgado looks for a timely block in CHS's victory of Don Lugo in this year's Milkcan.

The next person that was interviewed was the librarian. She said "I worked 22 years and they pranked each other" when Don Lugo set the turf on fire, recovery was thousands of dollars. Nothing bad has happened because of this rivalry in recent times and Chino has been doing better in the rivalry overall.

In the last interview, a known member of the local Chino High security and soccer coach, Victor Rosalez said that so far the Milkcan is going good, nothing major, just little fights between Don Lugo students. He said that it's all about pride and not talking smack to each other.

CHINO HIGH TO CELEBRATE HOMECOMING DANCE ON NEW CAMPUS

By Alyssa Candelaria and Karla Quezada

On October 8, 2022, Chino High School will be hosting their annual homecoming dance.

This year's dance will take place in a completely different location than it has before, since Chino High opened its new campus.

The question everyone is asking is, "Will homecoming be the same as past years or completely different with the new campus?"

Mrs. Castillo, Activities Director at Chino High, said "Homecoming will be really nice and with the new campus it will be very beautiful!"

This year's theme is Monster Mash. Mrs. Castillo says it reminds her of her childhood and is really excited.

Homecoming will have a DJ, games, photo booth, and of course food, and will be held in the center plaza. The tickets can be purchased for $50 for ASB card holders and $60 for everyone else.

NEW BELL SCHEDULE PRESENTS CHALLENGES

By Karina Hernandez

California law required a new bell schedule that meant high schools could not begin earlier than 8:30 am. There has been a lot of discussion about this new change, and there have been mixed responses from students, parents, and staff.

Some students at Chino High have said they like sleeping in an hour later, and that they feel better rested for the day. Others say even though they get to sleep in an hour later they do not like getting out of school an hour later.

"I liked the old schedule better because I feel like we got out earlier," Stephanie Sosa said. "I feel like I could get more done during the day."

Extracurricular activities like sports and after school clubs would also be impacted by the later start time. Students would have to go home later at night. Transportation may also be affected since students start later and their parents may already be working.

New and Improved Team Managers

By Mikaila Felix and Gabe Naranjo

The team manager program at Chino High School has turned over a new leaf with Daniella Ochoa taking over the program. Over the summer, Ochoa became the new equipment manager and has made big changes to the program.

Ochoa has changed the perspective of the team managers, giving them a new uniform and a bigger role on the field. She makes sure they have everything ready for games and are always looking clean and professional.

Monamu Bluford said, "Coming from someone new to the school, being a team manager has definitely added to the high school experience. It has been fun and I've made many new friends. I really enjoy football and being on the sidelines as well. I would say being a team manager is worth it and I would recommend others to join the program."

Ochoa said that the responsibilities of the team managers are "pretty much everything." They are required to attend all practices and games, set up field markers, turn on the scoreboard, set up microphone headsets, fill water jugs, distribute water, wash and organize jerseys, assist with any injuries, and just be there for whatever the coaches may need to get done. "A team manager must be responsible, initiative, have good communication, and be a good advocate," said Ochoa.

As far as the future for team managers, Ochoa plans to turn them into a school-wide leadership group for all sports and eventually a class for the years to come. Ochoa, added, "I want to change the presence of water girls, since the passing of Alex Arellano, nobody has lasted in the position of equipment manager."

THE Great SHAKEOUT APPROACHING

By Fernanda Sanchez and Nathaniel Gonzalez

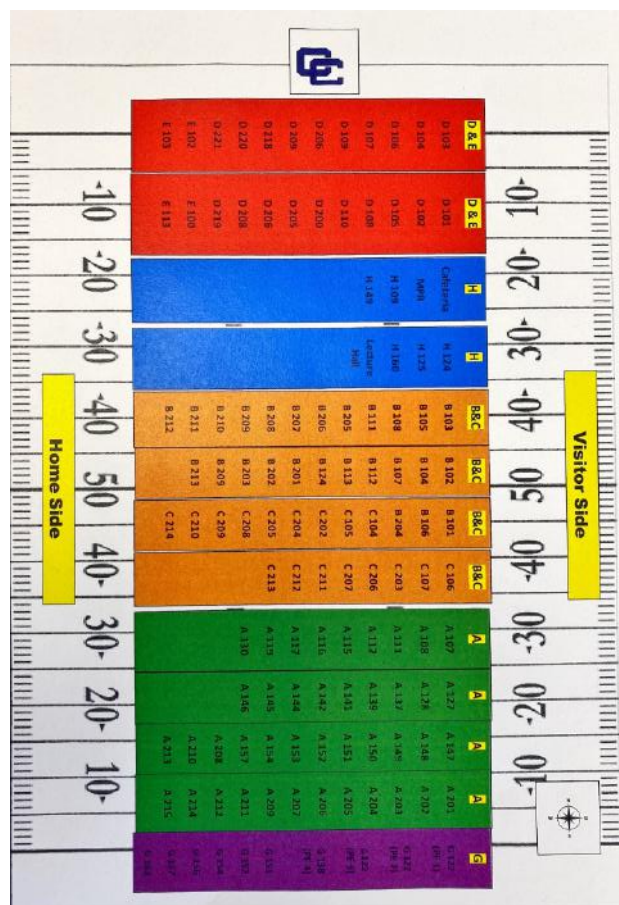

The students and staff at Chino High School will participate in an earthquake drill, the Great Shakeout on October 20th, 2022.

The Great Shakeout is practice for when a real earthquake hits California. Students are required to go under their desks and wait for instructions from their teachers. The teachers will then guide the students to a safe evacuation area.

The Great Shakeout will take place at 10:20 am, between second and third period. After the shakeout students and teachers will return to their classes and continue with their third period classes.

Ryan Meneses, a math teacher of four years at Chino High, said the drill usually lasts about 30-40 minutes.

Principal of Chino High School John Miller explained how important it is for Chino High to take this earthquake drill seriously as it is preparing us for the real thing. Miller has been a principal at Chino High School for about 4 years now.

Staff and students will evacuate to the football field during the drill. Once everyone is on the football field, the staff that make the search and rescue team will practice their procedures to prevent a real emergency. To be part of the search and rescue team, certain staff members are selected and then asked if they are comfortable being part of the team and handling the materials needed.

The Great shakeout is a response and dedication to prepare for an emergency. Miller claimed that if an earthquake were to occur, the best strategy for people to remain calm is if they are familiar with the process of a lockdown. Therefore, following the instructions of a teacher during any kind of drill is very important.

SPIRIT WEEK KICKS OFF MILKCAN

By Autumn Quiroz and Marlene Aguilar

Chino High hosted the Milkcan this year versus Don Lugo and students kicked it off with a spirit week to prepare for Chino's biggest rivalry game of the year. Milkcan took place on Friday September 16th at 7PM.

Chino High and Don Lugo have been rivals for a long time! This is the biggest game of the year, so what better way to show support than by having a spirit week.

Junior ASB student, Eva Escobar, told the Lariat that there was much more involvement and excitement this year, stating, "Everyone was involved in it more because of our huge football game with our rival, Don Lugo. It was more hyped basically." Escobar says ASB planned for this two months prior, with "all ideas" coming from each person in the class... and we vote on our top five". Escobar hopes to see the whole senior class next year participate and enjoy their last year and last Milkcan.

Freshman Abby Lopez claims this year's Milkcan spirit week was weird and "very cringe." Sharing that she didn't get involved because of it.

While freshmen have plenty of more opportunities for better spirit weeks, the upperclassmen looked forward to going all out, in hopes to make their final years one for the books.

LUNCH PASSES Are In

By Brandon Lopez, Carlos Fernandez, and Julian Gonzalez

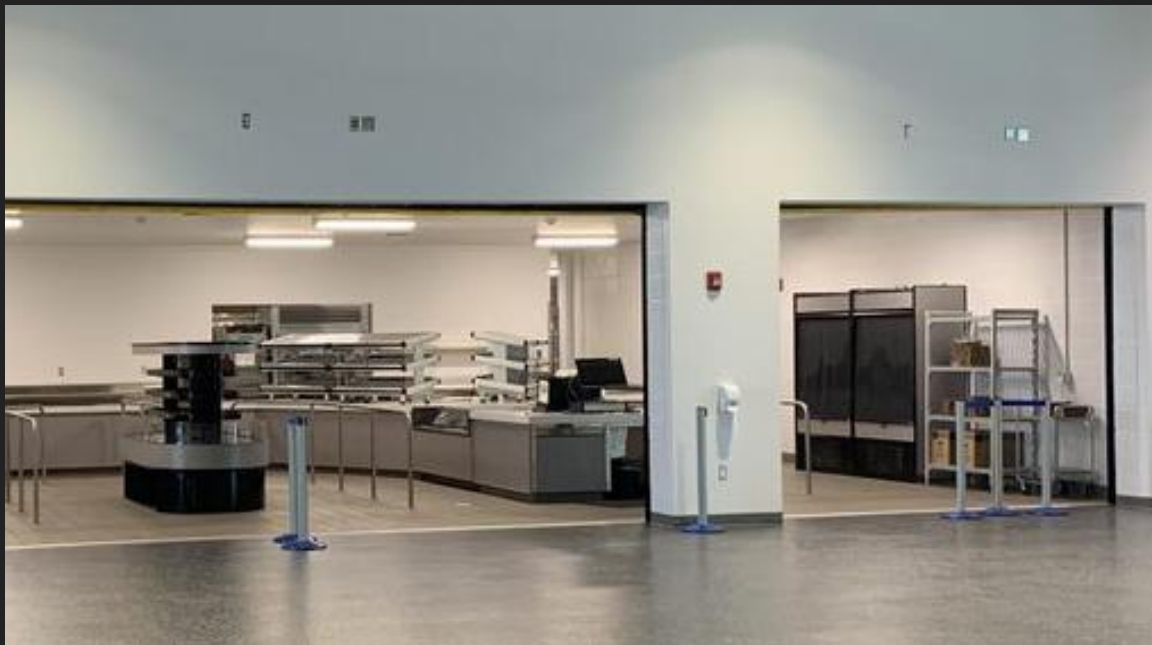

Since Monday September 26, Chino High School began to offer lunch passes to those students who met the grade requirements.

The requirements for a lunch pass include a minimum of a 2.0 GPA and no failing grades during the 6-week grading period, as well as having your parent or guardian sign a contract for you to apply.

The person in charge of the lunch passes is the admin secretary, Ms. Prescott. Students must talk to her to obtain a lunch pass sticker.

Everybody who gets a lunch pass also gets a unique number. The sticker changes depending on the semester. There is no limit to using the lunch pass. In order to leave the school, security will check your I.D. for the unique sticker.
